TEVA WOMEN’S HEALTH, LLC; TEVA
WOMEN’S HEALTH, LLC; THE
COOPER COMPANIES, INC.; and COOPERSURGICAL, INC.,

Defendants.

Case No.: 1:20-cv-1019 (GLS/CFH)

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES

2. ParaGard IUD is an intrauterine device, however, it is regulated as a drug. It is placed into the uterus to prevent conception.

1 3. ParaGard IUD has a propensity to break at the arms upon explant resulting in
2 serious injuries.

3 4. Plaintiff used ParaGard IUD, and as a result of its use suffered injuries.

4 II. GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

5 5. Plaintiff, Vanesha Johnson (“Plaintiff”), by and through Plaintiff’s attorneys,
6 Sanders Phillips Grossman, LLC, brings this action for personal injuries suffered as a result of 16 September 2017, resulting in injuries.

17 9. Defendant Teva Pharmaceuticals USA, Inc. (hereinafter “Teva Pharmaceuticals” 18 or “Teva USA”) is a Delaware corporation with headquarters located at 1090 Horsham Rd. in 19 North Wales, Pennsylvania. At times relevant to this action, Teva USA designed, developed,
20 manufactured and marketed ParaGard IUD at issue. At times relevant to this action, Teva USA
21 communicated with the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Food and Drug
22 Administration (hereinafter “FDA”) regarding the sale, use, and safety concerns related to 23 ParaGard IUDs, which includes managing product recalls, investigating adverse events from 24 ParaGard IUD users, and performing mandatory reporting to FDA regarding ParaGard IUD.

25 10. At times relevant to this action, Teva USA was involved in regulatory 26 communications, and medical communications, including but not limited to communications with 27 physicians, doctors, the FDA and other medical personnel, which led to activities giving rise to 28

1 failure to warn, negligence, gross negligence, common law fraud, negligent misrepresentation,
2 breach of warranty, and a violation of consumer protection laws.

3 11. Defendant Teva Women’s Health, Inc., is a Delaware corporation with 4 headquarters located at 425 Privet Rd., in Horsham, Pennsylvania and is and/or was a wholly
5 owned subsidiary of Teva USA, and/or operated as a successor-in-interest to Duramed
6 Pharmaceuticals, Inc., a division of Barr Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and/or assumed Duramed
7 Pharmaceuticals, Inc., a division of Barr Pharmaceuticals, Inc., in a name change after its
8 acquisition by Teva USA. Teva Women’s Health, Inc. converted into Teva Women’s Health, LLC
9 in 2017 and continues to operate as Teva Women’s Health, LLC. At times relevant to this action,
10 Teva Women’s Health designed, developed, manufactured and marketed ParaGard IUD at issue.

11 12. Defendant Teva Women’s Health, LLC is a Delaware limited liability company
12 with headquarters located at 425 Privet Rd., in Horsham, Pennsylvania and is and/or was a wholly 13 owned subsidiary of Defendants Teva Pharmaceuticals. Teva Women’s Health, LLC is the product
14 of an entity conversion pursuant to Del. Code Ann. Tit. 8, 266. Teva Women’s Health, Inc., 15 converted into Teva Women’s Health, LLC and continues to operate as a limited liability company
16 instead of an incorporation (Teva Women’s Health, LLC formerly known as Teva Women’s 17 Health, Inc. collectively hereinafter “Teva Women’s Health”).

18 13. Accordingly, Duramed Pharmaceuticals, Inc., a division of Barr Pharmaceuticals, 19 Inc., d/b/a Teva Women’s Health Inc., (hereinafter “Duramed”), acquired FEI Women’s Health in 20 2005 wherein the asset of ParaGard IUD was acquired in the deal. Duramed was acquired by Teva
21 USA in 2008 wherein its name was changed to Teva Women’s Health, Inc., a wholly-owned
22 subsidiary of Teva USA (Defendants Teva USA and Teva Women’s Health collectively 23 hereinafter “Teva Defendants”).

24 14. Defendant The Cooper Companies, Inc., (hereinafter “Cooper Companies”) is a 25 Delaware corporation with headquarters at 6140 Stoneridge Mall Rd., in Pleasanton, California.
26 Cooper Companies purchased assets and global rights and business of ParaGard IUD in September 27 2017 for $1.1 Billion, including their manufacturing facility in Buffalo, New York.
28

1           15. Defendant CooperSurgical, Inc., (hereinafter “Cooper Surgical”) is a Delaware
2 corporation with headquarters at 95 Corporate Dr. in Trumbull, Connecticut and a subsidiary of 3 Defendant Cooper Companies (Defendants Cooper Companies and CooperSurgical collectively
4 hereinafter “Cooper Defendants”).

5           16. At all times relevant hereto and alleged herein, the Cooper Defendants conducted
6 and continues to conduct substantial business within the state of New York and within the Northern 7 District of New York.

8           17. At times relevant hereto and alleged herein, the Teva Defendants conducted and 9 continues to regularly conduct substantial business within the state of New York, which included
10 and continues to include, the research, safety surveillance, manufacture, sale, distribution and 11 marketing of ParaGard IUD, which is distributed through the stream of interstate commerce into 12 the state of New York and within the Northern District of New York.

13           18. At all relevant times, each Defendant acted in all aspects as the agent or alter ego 14 of each other.

15           19. The Cooper Defendants are liable as a successors-in-interest under the New York
16 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
17 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
18 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

19           20. Upon reasonable belief, Duramed became Teva Women’s Health, Inc., through a 20 name change in 2008. Teva Women’s Health, Inc., then became Teva Women’s Health, LLC
21 through a conversion in 2017. Teva Women’s Health, LLC then sold all of its assets including 22 ParaGard IUD to the Cooper Defendants in 2017. Teva Women’s Health, LLC became a holdings
23 company with no tangible assets.

24           21. The Cooper Defendants knew or should have known that the transfer and 25 conversion of Teva Women’s Health, Inc. was intended to thwart potential creditors from having 26 a claim against Teva Women’s Health, Inc. or Teva Women’s Health, LLC. Therefore, the Cooper
27
28

1 Defendants are liable pursuant to the Federal Consumer Protection Acts and New York Uniform
2 Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA).

3 22. The liability of these companies has passed on through various business
4 instruments and now lies with both the Teva Defendants and the Cooper Defendants.

5 23. At times relevant and material hereto, the Teva Defendants engaged in the business
6 of, or were successors-in-interest to entities engaged in the business of, researching, developing,
7 designing, formulating, licensing, manufacturing, testing, producing, processing, assembling,
8 packaging, inspecting, distributing, selling, labeling, monitoring, marketing, promoting,
9 advertising, and/or introducing into interstate commerce throughout the United States, in the state
10 of New York and within the Northern District of New York, either directly or indirectly, through 11 third-parties, subsidiaries and/or related entities, ParaGard IUD, a drug used in the prevention of 12 pregnancy, implanted in patients throughout the United States, including Plaintiff.

13 24. At time relevant and material hereto, the Cooper Defendants were successors-in-
14 interest to entities engaged in the business of, researching, developing, designing, formulating,
15 licensing, manufacturing, testing, producing, processing, assembling, packaging, inspecting,
16 distributing, selling, labeling, monitoring, marketing, promoting, advertising, and/or introducing
17 into interstate commerce throughout the United States, in the state of New York and within the 18 Northern District of New York, either directly or indirectly, through third-parties, subsidiaries
19 and/or related entities, ParaGard IUD, a drug used in the prevention of pregnancy, implanted in 20 patients throughout the United States, including Plaintiff.

21 25. At all times alleged herein, the Teva Defendants were engaged in the business of,
22 or were successors-in-interest to entities engaged in the business of, researching, designing,
23 formulating, compounding, testing, manufacturing, producing, processing, assembling, inspecting,
24 distributing, marketing, labeling, promoting, packaging, and/or advertising for sale or selling
25 ParaGard IUD.

26 26. At all times alleged herein, the Cooper Defendants were successors-in-interest to 27 entities engaged in the business of, researching, designing, formulating, compounding, testing,
28

1 manufacturing, producing, processing, assembling, inspecting, distributing, marketing, labeling,
2 promoting, packaging, and/or advertising for sale or selling ParaGard IUD.

3 27. At all times alleged herein, Defendants were authorized to conduct or engage in 4 business within the state of New York and within the Northern District of New York. The Teva
5 Defendants and the Cooper Defendants as successors-in-interest received financial benefit and 6 profits as a result of designing, manufacturing, marketing, advertising, selling and distributing
7 ParaGard IUD within the state of New York and the Northern District of New York.

8 28. The combined acts and/or omissions of each Defendant resulted in indivisible
9 injuries to Plaintiff. Each of the above-named Defendants is a joint tortfeasor and is jointly and 10 severally liable to Plaintiff for the negligent acts and omissions alleged herein. Each of the above-
11 named Defendants directed, authorized or ratified the conduct of each and every other Defendant.

12 29. The amount in controversy exceeds the jurisdictional limits of this court.

13 IV. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

14 30. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all of the above paragraphs.

15 31. Jurisdiction is proper in this court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332 as complete
16 diversity of citizenship exists between Plaintiff and Defendants and the matter in controversy
17 exceeds the sum of $75,000.00, exclusive of interest and costs.

18 32. This Court has jurisdiction over the non-resident Defendants because they have 19 conducted business in the state of New York. Defendants have committed a tort in whole or in 20 part in the state of New York and have regular and continuing contacts with New York.

21 33. In addition, venue of this case is proper in the state of New York pursuant to 28
22 U.S.C. § 1391 because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiff's claims occurred in 23 Northern District of New York.

24 V. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

25 34. ParaGard IUD is an intrauterine drug that can provide long term birth control, up 26 to 10 years, without hormones.

1 35. ParaGard IUD drug is a T-shaped plastic frame made of polyethylene and barium
2 sulfate that is inserted into the uterus. Copper wire coiled around the IUD produces an
3 inflammatory reaction that is toxic to sperm and egg. A monofilament polyethylene thread is tied 4 through the tip, resulting in two white threads, which aid in the detection and removal of the drug.

5 36. ParaGard IUD has a propensity to break at the arms upon explant resulting in 6 serious injuries.

7 37. At relevant times, the Teva Defendants designed, researched, manufactured,
8 labeled, packaged, promoted, marketed and/or sold ParaGard IUD at issue after receiving New 9 Drug Application approval from FDA.

10 38. In 2008, Teva USA became the owner of ParaGard IUD when it acquired Duramed
11 Pharmaceuticals, Inc., a division of Barr Pharmaceuticals, Inc., through its purchase of Barr
12 Pharmaceuticals, Inc.

13 39. Upon information and belief, when Teva USA acquired Duramed, a division of 14 Barr Pharmaceuticals, Inc., it also acquired Duramed's manufacturing facilities, sales force and 15 responsibility for maintaining and updating the labeling for ParaGard IUD.

16 40. Shortly thereafter, Teva USA changed the name of Duramed Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 17 a division of Barr Pharmaceuticals, Inc., to Teva Women's Health, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary 18 of Teva USA.

19 41. On August 31, 2009, Duramed Pharmaceuticals, Inc., filed with the Ohio Secretary
20 of State a Certificate of Amendment to Foreign Corporation Application For License requesting a 21 name change. A new entity was not created, and no entities were dissolved. Duramed's license
22 number did not change. Instead, Duramed changed its name to Teva Women's Health, Inc.

23 42. Upon information and belief, Teva Women's Health, Inc. is simply a new name for 24 Duramed.

25 43. Upon information and belief, and for purposes of liability and interest, Teva
26 Women's Health, Inc., is the same entity as Teva Women's Health, LLC. Teva Women's Health, 27 Inc., converted into Teva Women's Health, LLC under the laws of Delaware. Del. Code Ann. Tit.
28

1 8, 266. Pursuant to Del. Code Ann. Tit. 8, 266, a company that converts from one entity into
2 another is deemed to be a continuation of the preexisting company. A conversion does not equate
3 to a dissolution and no winding up takes place. Therefore, Teva Women's Health, Inc., did not
4 dissolve, windup, or cease to exist and liability continues from the corporation to the Limited
5 Liability Company.

6 44. Upon information and belief on August 11, 2017, Teva Women's Health, Inc., 7 converted into Teva Women's Health, LLC and sold off all of its assets.

8 45. On September 11, 2017, the Teva Defendants sold ParaGard IUD to the Cooper
9 Defendants.

10 46. ParaGard IUD is currently sold only in the U.S. and had earned revenues of 11 approximately $168 million for the twelve-month period ending June 30, 2017.

12 47. The Cooper Defendants still manufacture and sell ParaGard IUD in the U.S.

13 48. ParaGard IUD was marketed heavily by the Teva Defendants as being safe and 14 effective, and promising fewer side effects than other birth control methods.

15 49. The marketing and promotional efforts of the Teva Defendants, their advertisers,
16 and sales force served to overstate the benefits of ParaGard IUD and minimize and downplay the 17 risks. These promotional efforts were made while the Teva Defendants fraudulently withheld 18 important safety information from health care providers and the public.

19 50. Prior to Plaintiff being implanted with ParaGard IUD, the Teva Defendants knew 20 and should have known that the drug was defective and unreasonably dangerous.

21 51. The Teva Defendants knew or should have known that ParaGard IUD can and does 22 cause serious harm to individuals who use it, due to the risk of ParaGard IUD's arm breaking upon 23 removal.

24 52. The Teva Defendants knew of these risks from the trials they performed, their post-
25 marketing experience and complaints, third party studies, and their own analysis of these studies,
26 but took no action to adequately warn or remedy the defects and instead concealed, suppressed
27 and failed to disclose or fix this danger.

1           53.     The product warnings for ParaGard IUD were vague, incomplete or otherwise
2 wholly inadequate to alert prescribing physicians and patients to the actual risks associated with
3 ParaGard IUD.

4           54.     The Teva Defendants' marketing and promotion, through its own website, sought
5 to reassure physicians and patients of the Teva Defendants' longstanding record of quality and 6 safety assurance.

7           55.     Based upon these representations, upon which Plaintiff and her physician relied,
8 Plaintiff had ParaGard IUD implanted, believing it would be safe and effective, for the entire 9 duration it was implanted and upon removal.

10          56.     Since 2010, the FDA has received over 1600 reports of ParaGard IUD breakage, 11 with over 700 classified as serious.

12          57.     The Teva Defendants' failure to adequately communicate and report to the FDA
13 the injuries associated with ParaGard IUD resulted in inadequate warnings.

14          58.     The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
15 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA) any other
16 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
17 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

18     VI. PLAINTIFF'S USE OF PARAGARD IUD

19          59.     On information and belief, in June 2017, Plaintiff was implanted with Defendants'
20 ParaGard IUD by a physician.

21          60.     Plaintiff, a young and healthy woman, wanted a ParaGard IUD because it was a 22 reversible form of birth control that would allow her to conceive in the future.

23          61.     In September 2017, Plaintiff went to have the ParaGard IUD removed in New 24 York. An ultrasound of the pelvis revealed that the ParaGard IUD was malpositioned.

25          62.     Plaintiff's healthcare provider attempted to remove the ParaGard IUD as instructed 26 by the Teva Defendants, by grasping the ParaGard IUD by the forceps and pulling gently. Despite 27
28

1 following the instructions provided by the Teva Defendants, only a portion of the ParaGard IUD
2 was retrieved with one arm missing.

3 63. On September 20, 2017, Plaintiff's physician removed the ParaGard IUD arm
4 through laparoscopic surgery.

5 64. Prior to her procedures, Plaintiff and her doctors were provided with no warning
6 from the Teva Defendants of the risk of ParaGard IUD failure and injury, nor were Plaintiff and 7 her doctors provided with adequate warning of the risk of removal of ParaGard IUD. This 8 information was known or knowable to the Teva Defendants.

9 65. On information and belief, Plaintiff used the ParaGard IUD manufactured,
10 packaged, marketed, sold and/or distributed by the Teva Defendants. The ParaGard IUD reached 11 Plaintiff without substantial change in the drug's condition.

12 66. On information and belief, as a direct and proximate result of using ParaGard IUD,
13 Plaintiff developed serious and/or permanent adverse effects.

14 67. As a result of said injuries, Plaintiff suffered significant bodily and mental injuries,
15 pain and suffering, mental anguish, disfigurement, embarrassment, inconvenience, loss of earnings
16 and earning capacity, and have and will incur past and future medical expenses.

17 68. At all relevant times, the Teva Defendants had knowledge that there was a 18 significant increased risk of adverse events associated with ParaGard IUD including arm breakage,
19 and despite this knowledge the Teva Defendants continued to manufacture, market, distribute, sell,
20 and profit from sales of ParaGard IUD.

21 69. The Cooper Defendants continue to manufacture, market, distribute, sell and profit
22 from sales of ParaGard IUD.

23 70. Despite such knowledge, the Teva Defendants knowingly, purposely, and 24 deliberately failed to adequately warn Plaintiff, patients, consumers, medical providers, and the 25 public of the increased risk of serious injury associated with using ParaGard IUD.

26 71. On information and belief, Plaintiff's prescribing physicians would not have 27 prescribed ParaGard IUD to Plaintiff, would have changed the way they warned Plaintiff about the 28

1 signs and symptoms of serious adverse effects of ParaGard IUD, and discussed with Plaintiff the 2 true risks of arm breakage and resulting injuries and complications had the Teva Defendants 3 provided said physicians with an appropriate and adequate warning regarding the risks associated 4 with the use of ParaGard IUD.

5 72. As a direct and proximate result of the Teva Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff suffered 6 injuries, including, but not limited to, pain, suffering and loss of reproductive health, which 7 resulted in damages to Plaintiff in a sum in excess of the jurisdictional limits of the Court.

8 73. The Teva Defendants maintained a duty to Plaintiff after the ParaGard IUD was 9 implanted and until it was removed.

10 74. The Cooper Defendants are liable as a successors-in-interest under the New York
11 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
12 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
13 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

14 75. As a direct result of Plaintiff's use of ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff suffered from having 15 a broken arm of the ParaGard IUD in her, causing her damage, including but not limited to pain, 16 suffering, mental anguish, the loss of reproductive health, loss of enjoyment of life, medical 17 expenses and other out of pocket losses and loss of income.

18 VII. DELAYED DISCOVERY

19 76. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the factual portion of this Complaint as if fully 20 set forth herein and additionally, or in the alternative, if same be necessary, allege as follows:

21 77. Plaintiff plead that the discovery rule should be applied to toll the running of the 22 statute of limitations until Plaintiff knew, or through the exercise of reasonable care and diligence
23 should have known, of facts indicating that the Plaintiff had been injured, the cause of the injury
24 and the tortious nature of the wrongdoing that caused the injury.

25 78. Despite diligent investigation by Plaintiff into the cause of her injuries, including 26 consultations with Plaintiff's medical providers, the nature of Plaintiff's injuries and damages and 27 their relation to the Plaintiff's ParaGard IUD and Defendants' wrongful conduct was not 28

1 discovered and could not have been discovered, until a date within the applicable statute of 2 limitations for filing each of Plaintiff's claims. Therefore, under appropriate application of the 3 discovery rule, Plaintiff's suit was filed well within the applicable statutory limitations period.

4 79. Any applicable statutes of limitations have been tolled by the knowing and active
5 concealment and denial of material facts known by the Defendants when they had a duty to disclose
6 those facts. The Defendants' purposeful and fraudulent acts of concealment have kept Plaintiff
7 ignorant of vital information essential to the pursuit of Plaintiff's claims, without any fault or lack 8 of diligence on Plaintiff's part, for the purpose of obtaining delay on Plaintiff's filing of their 9 causes of action. The Defendants' fraudulent concealment did result in such delay.

10 80. Defendants are estopped from relying on the statute of limitations defense because 11 Defendants failed to timely disclose, among other things, facts evidencing the defective and 12 unreasonably dangerous nature of their ParaGard IUD.

13 VIII. CAUSES OF ACTION

14 COUNT I – NEGLIGENCE

15 81. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
16 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

17 82. At times relevant, the Teva Defendants were in the business of designing,
18 developing, setting specifications, manufacturing, marketing, selling and/or distributing ParaGard
19 IUD, including the one that was implanted into the Plaintiff.

20 83. The Teva Defendants had a duty to exercise reasonable and ordinary care in the 21 manufacture, design, labeling, instructions, warnings, sale, marketing, safety surveillance and 22 distribution of ParaGard IUD so as to avoid exposing others to foreseeable and unreasonable risks 23 of harm.

24 84. The Teva Defendants breached their duty of care to the Plaintiff and her physicians,
25 in the manufacture, design, labeling, warnings, instructions, sale, marketing, safety surveillance,
26 and distribution of ParaGard IUD.

1           85.     The Teva Defendants knew that ParaGard IUD could break upon removal and 2 failed to warn Plaintiff of this potential injury.

3           86.     The Teva Defendants had a duty to warn Plaintiff of the potential for breakage at 4 the arm(s) upon removal. The Teva Defendants breached that duty and Plaintiff was harmed.

5           87.     The Teva Defendants knew or reasonably should have known that ParaGard IUD
6 was dangerous or likely to be dangerous when used in its intended or reasonably foreseeable 7 manner.

8           88.     At the time of the manufacture and sale of ParaGard IUD, the Teva Defendants
9 knew or should have known that ParaGard IUD was designed and manufactured in such a manner
10 so as to present an unreasonable risk of the fracture of the arm of the drug upon removal.

11           89.     At the time of the manufacturer and sale of ParaGard IUD, the Teva Defendants
12 knew or should have known that ParaGard IUD was designed and manufactured to have 13 unreasonable and insufficient strength or structural integrity to withstand normal placement and 14 subsequent removal.

15           90.     At the time of the manufacture and sale of ParaGard IUD, the Teva Defendants
16 knew or should have known that using ParaGard IUD for its intended use or in a reasonably 17 foreseeable manner created a significant risk of a patient suffering severe injuries, including but 18 not limited to additional surgeries and/or medical procedures in order to remove the fragmented 19 drug, even leading to hysterectomy.

20           91.     The Teva Defendants knew or reasonably should have known that the consumers
21 of ParaGard IUD would not realize the danger associated with using the drug for its intended use 22 and/or in a reasonably foreseeable manner.

23           92.     The Teva Defendants breached their duty to exercise reasonable and prudent care
24 in the development, testing, design, manufacture, inspection, marketing, labeling, promotion,
25 distribution and sale of ParaGard IUD in, among others, the following ways:
26
27
28

1 a. Designing and distributing a product in which they knew or should
2 have known that the likelihood and severity of potential harm from the product
3 exceeded the burden of taking measures to reduce or avoid harm;

4 b. Designing and distributing a product in which they knew or should
5 have known that the likelihood and severity of potential harm from the product
6 exceeded the likelihood of potential harm from other drug available for the 7 same purpose;

8 c. Failing to use reasonable care in manufacturing the product and 9 producing a product that differed from their design or specifications;

10 d. Failing to use reasonable care to warn or instruct Plaintiff, Plaintiff's
11 healthcare providers or the general health care community about ParaGard
12 IUD's substantially dangerous condition or about facts making the product 13 likely to be dangerous, including pre-and post-sale;

14 e. Failing to perform reasonable pre-and post-market testing of 15 ParaGard IUD to determine whether or not the product was safe for its intended
16 use;

17 f. Failing to provide adequate instructions, guidelines, and safety 18 precautions, to those persons to whom it was reasonably foreseeable would 19 recommend, use, implant and remove ParaGard IUD;

20 g. Advertising, marketing and recommending the use of ParaGard
21 IUD, while concealing and failing to disclose or warn of the dangers known by 22 the Teva Defendants to be connected with and inherent in the use of ParaGard
23 IUD;

24 h. Representing that ParaGard IUD was safe for its intended use when 25 in fact, the Teva Defendants knew and should have known the product was not 26 safe for its intended purpose;

1 i. Continuing manufacture and sale of ParaGard IUD with the 2 knowledge that the IUD was dangerous and not reasonably safe, and failing to 3 comply with the FDA good manufacturing regulations;

4 j. Failing to use reasonable and prudent care in the design, research,
5 manufacture, and development of ParaGard IUD so as to avoid the risk of 6 serious harm associated with the use of the IUD;

7 k. Failing to establish an adequate quality assurance program used in 8 the manufacturing of ParaGard IUD;

9 l. Failing to establish and maintain an adequate post-marketing
10 surveillance program for ParaGard IUD;

11 m. Failing to adequately and correctly report safety information relative 12 to ParaGard IUD product resulting in inadequate warnings; and 13 n. Failing to provide adequate and continuous warnings about the 14 inherent danger of breakage with ParaGard IUD upon removal.

15 93. A reasonable manufacturer, distributor, and/or seller under the same or similar 16 circumstances would not have engaged in the aforementioned acts and omissions.

17 94. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants' design, manufacture, marketing, sale
18 and/or distribution of ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff has been injured catastrophically, and sustained
19 severe and permanent pain, suffering, disability, and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of 20 reproductive health, comfort, and economic damages.

21 95. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
22 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
23 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
24 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

25 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally, 26 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in 27
28

1 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
2 issues so triable as a matter of right.

3 COUNT II – STRICT LIABILITY DESIGN DEFECT

4 96. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
5 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

6 97. ParaGard IUD is inherently dangerous and defective, unfit and unsafe for its 7 intended use and reasonably foreseeable uses and does not meet or perform to the expectations of 8 patients and their health care providers.

9 98. ParaGard IUD was expected to, and did, reach its intended consumer without 10 substantial change in the condition in which it was in when it left the Teva Defendants' possession.

11 99. The ParaGard IUD implanted in Plaintiff was defective in design because it failed 12 to perform as safely as persons who ordinarily use the products would have expected at time of 13 use.

14 100. The ParaGard IUD implanted in Plaintiff was defective in design, in that the IUD's 15 risks of harm exceeded its claimed benefits.

16 101. Plaintiff and her healthcare providers used ParaGard IUD in a manner that was 17 reasonably foreseeable to the Teva Defendants.

18 102. Neither Plaintiff nor her healthcare providers could have by the exercise of 19 reasonable care discovered the IUD's defective conditions or perceived its unreasonable dangers 20 prior to her implantation of the drug.

21 103. As a result of the foregoing design defects, ParaGard IUD created risks to the 22 health and safety of its users that were far more significant and devastating than the risks posed by 23 other products and procedures available to treat the corresponding medical conditions, and which 24 far outweigh the utility of ParaGard IUD.

25 104. The Teva Defendants have intentionally and recklessly designed ParaGard IUD
26 with wanton and willful disregard for the rights and health of the Plaintiff and others, and with 27 malice, placing their economic interests above the health and safety of the Plaintiff and others.
28

1           105. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants’ design of ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff
2 has been injured catastrophically, and sustained severe and permanent pain, suffering, disability,
3 and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of care, comfort, and economic damages.

4           106. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
5 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
6 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
7 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

8           WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
9 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
10 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
11 issues so triable as a matter of right.

12                           COUNT III – STRICT LIABILITY MANUFACTURING DEFECT

13           107. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
14 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

15           108. The Teva Defendants designed, set specifications, manufactured, prepared,
16 compounded, assembled, processed, marketed, labeled, performed pharmacovigilance, distributed
17 and sold the ParaGard IUD that was implanted into the Plaintiff.

18           109. The ParaGard IUD implanted in Plaintiff contained a condition or conditions,
19 which the Teva Defendants did not intend, at the time the ParaGard IUD left the Teva Defendants’ 20 control and possession.

21           110. Plaintiff and Plaintiffs’ health care providers used the drug in a manner consistent 22 with and reasonably foreseeable to the Teva Defendants.

23           111. As a result of this condition or these conditions, the product failed to perform as 24 safely as the ordinary consumer would expect, causing injury, when used in a reasonably 25 foreseeable manner.

26           112. ParaGard IUD was defectively and/or improperly manufactured, rendering it
27 defective and unreasonably dangerous and hazardous to Plaintiff.
28

1 113. As a result of the manufacturing defects, ParaGard IUD creates risks to the health
2 and safety of the patients that are far more significant and devastating than the risks posed by other
3 products and procedures available to treat the corresponding medical conditions, and which far
4 outweigh the utility of ParaGard IUD.

5 114. The Teva Defendants intentionally and recklessly manufactured ParaGard IUD
6 with wanton and willful disregard for the rights and health of the Plaintiffs and others, and with
7 malice, placing their economic interests above the health and safety of the Plaintiff and others.

8 115. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants manufacture of ParaGard IUD,
9 Plaintiff has been injured catastrophically, and sustained severe and permanent pain, suffering,
10 disability, and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of care, comfort, and economic damages.

11 116. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
12 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
13 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
14 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

15 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
16 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
17 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
18 issues so triable as a matter of right.

19 COUNT IV – STRICT LIABILITY FAILURE TO WARN

20 117. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
21 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

22 118. The Teva Defendants designed, set specifications, manufactured, prepared,
23 compounded, assembled, processed, marketed, labeled, distributed and sold ParaGard IUD,
24 including the one implanted into Plaintiff, into the stream of commerce and in the course of same,
25 directly advertised and marketed the drug to consumers or persons responsible for consumers.

26 119. At the time the Teva Defendants designed set specifications, manufactured,
27 prepared, compounded, assembled, processed, marketed, labeled, distributed and sold ParaGard
28

1 IUD into the stream of commerce, they knew or should have known that the drug presented an
2 unreasonable danger to users of the product when put to its intended and reasonably anticipated
3 use.

4 120. Specifically, the Teva Defendants knew or should have known that ParaGard IUD 5 posed a significant risk that one of the arms of the drug could break upon removal, resulting in 6 significant injuries.

7 121. The Teva Defendants had a duty to warn of the risk of harm associated with the use
8 of the drug and to provide adequate warnings concerning the risk the drug could break upon 9 removal, even if implanted properly and even if the drug remained properly in-place.

10 122. The Teva Defendants failed to properly and adequately warn and instruct the 11 Plaintiff and her health care providers with regard to the inadequate research and testing of 12 ParaGard IUD, and the complete lack of a safe, effective procedure for removal of ParaGard IUD.

13 123. The risks associated with ParaGard IUD are of such a nature that health care 14 providers and users could not have recognized the potential harm.

15 124. ParaGard IUD was defective and unreasonably dangerous at the time of its release
16 into the stream of commerce due to the inadequate warnings, labeling and/or instructions
17 accompanying the product, including but not limited to, the implantation and subsequent removal
18 of ParaGard IUD.

19 125. The ParaGard IUD, when implanted in Plaintiff, was in the same condition as when 20 it was manufactured, inspected, marketed, labeled, promoted, distributed and sold by the Teva
21 Defendants.

22 126. The Teva Defendants intentionally, recklessly, and maliciously misrepresented the 23 safety, risks, and benefits in order to advance their own financial interests, with wanton and willful
24 disregard for the rights and health of the Plaintiff.

25 127. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants' design, manufacture, marketing, sale
26 and/or distribution of ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff has been injured catastrophically, and sustained
27
28

1 severe and permanent pain, suffering, disability, and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of
2 reproductive health, comfort, and economic damages.

3 128. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
4 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
5 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
6 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

7 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
8 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
9 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
10 issues so triable as a matter of right.

11 COUNT V – COMMON LAW FRAUD

12 129. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
13 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

14 130. The Teva Defendants falsely and fraudulently represented and continue to represent 15 to the medical and healthcare community, Plaintiff and her physicians, and/or the public that 16 ParaGard IUD had been appropriately tested and was found to be safe and effective.

17 131. The representations made by the Teva Defendants were, in fact, false. When the 18 Teva Defendants made their representations, they knew and/or had reason to know that those 19 representations were false, and they willfully, wantonly, and recklessly disregarded the 20 inaccuracies in their representations and the dangers and health risks to users of ParaGard IUD.

21 132. These representations were made by the Teva Defendants with the intent of 22 defrauding and deceiving the medical community, Plaintiff, and the public, and also inducing the 23 medical community, Plaintiff, Plaintiff's physicians, and/or the public, to recommend, prescribe,
24 dispense, and purchase ParaGard IUD for use as a form of long-term birth control, all of which 25 evidenced a callous, reckless, willful, and depraved indifference to the health, safety, and welfare
26 of Plaintiff.

1           133. In representations to Plaintiff and/or to her healthcare providers, the Teva
2 Defendants fraudulently concealed and intentionally omitted the following material information:

- 3           a. That ParaGard IUD was not as safe as other products and procedures available
4 to aid in the long-term prevention of pregnancy;
- 5           b. That the risk of adverse events with ParaGard IUD was higher than with other 6 products and procedures available for birth control;
- 7           c. ParaGard IUD was not adequately tested;
- 8           d. That the limited clinical testing for ParaGard IUD revealed a higher risk of 9 adverse events, above and beyond those associated with other products and 10 procedures available for birth control;
- 11           e. That the Teva Defendants deliberately failed to follow up on the adverse results 12 from clinical studies and/or formal and informal reports from physicians and/or 13 other healthcare providers and either ignored, concealed and/or misrepresented 14 those findings;
- 15           f. That the Teva Defendants were aware of dangers in ParaGard IUD in addition 16 to and above and beyond those associated with other products and procedures 17 available for birth control;
- 18           g. That ParaGard IUD was defective, and that it caused dangerous and adverse 19 side effects, including but not limited to unacceptable incidence of breakage 20 upon removal;
- 21           h. That when ParaGard IUD needed to be removed, the removal procedure had a 22 very high failure rate and/or needed to be performed repeatedly;
- 23           i. That ParaGard IUD was manufactured negligently;
- 24           j. That ParaGard IUD was manufactured defectively; and
- 25           k. That ParaGard IUD was designed negligently and designed defectively.
- 26
27
28

1           134. The Teva Defendants were under a duty to disclose to Plaintiff and her physicians,
2 the defective nature of ParaGard IUD, including but not limited to, the risk of breakage prior to 3 and upon removal, which could result in permanent injury.

4           135. The Teva Defendants had sole access to material facts concerning the defective
5 nature of the products and their propensity to cause serious and dangerous side effects and hence,
6 cause dangerous injuries and damage to persons who used ParaGard IUD, such as Plaintiff.

7           136. The Teva Defendants' concealment and omissions of material facts concerning the 8 safety of ParaGard IUD were made purposefully, willfully, wantonly, and/or recklessly to mislead
9 Plaintiff, Plaintiff's physicians, surgeons and healthcare providers and to induce them to purchase,
10 prescribe, and/or dispense ParaGard IUD; and/or to mislead them into reliance upon and cause
11 them to use ParaGard IUD.

12           137. At the time these representations were made by the Teva Defendants, and at the 13 time Plaintiff and/or her physicians, used ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff and/or her physicians were 14 unaware of the falsehood of these representations, and reasonably believed them to be true.

15           138. The Teva Defendants knew and had reason to know that ParaGard IUD could and 16 would cause severe and grievous personal injury to the users of the product and was inherently
17 dangerous in a manner that exceeded any purported, inaccurate, or otherwise downplayed 18 warnings.

19           139. In reliance upon these false representations, Plaintiff and her physicians were 20 induced to, and did use ParaGard IUD, thereby causing severe and permanent personal injuries
21 and damages to Plaintiff. The Teva Defendants knew or had reason to know that the Plaintiff and 22 her physicians and other healthcare providers had no way to determine the truth behind the Teva
23 Defendants' concealment and omissions, and that these included material omissions of facts
24 surrounding the use of ParaGard IUD, as described in detail herein.

25           140. Plaintiff and her physicians reasonably relied on facts provided by the Teva
26 Defendants which foreseeably and purposefully suppressed and concealed facts that were critical
27 to understanding the real dangers inherent to the use of ParaGard IUD.
28

1           141. Having knowledge based on their research and testing, or lack thereof, the Teva
2 Defendants blatantly and intentionally distributed false information, including but not limited to 3 assurances to Plaintiff, the public, and Plaintiff's healthcare providers and physicians, that
4 ParaGard IUD was safe for use as a means of providing long-term birth control and was as safe or
5 safer than other product and/or procedures available and/or on the market. As a result of the Teva
6 Defendants' research and testing, or lack thereof, The Teva Defendants intentionally omitted,
7 concealed and suppressed the dissemination of certain results of testing and research to healthcare
8 professionals, Plaintiff, her physicians, and the public at large.

9           142. The Teva Defendants had a duty when disseminating information to the public to 10 disseminate truthful information; and a parallel duty not to deceive the public, Plaintiff, and/or her 11 physicians.

12           143. The information distributed to the public, the medical community, Plaintiff and her
13 physicians by the Teva Defendants included, but was not limited to websites, information
14 presented at medical and professional meetings, information disseminated by sales representatives
15 to physicians and other medical care providers, professional literature, reports, press releases,
16 advertising campaigns, television commercials, print advertisements, and/or other commercial 17 media, and contained material representations which were false and misleading, as well as 18 omissions and concealments of the truth about the dangers of the use of ParaGard IUD.

19           144. These representations, and others made by the Teva Defendants, were false when 20 made and/or were made with the pretense of actual knowledge when such knowledge did not 21 actually exist, and were made recklessly and without regard to the true facts.

22           145. The Teva Defendants recklessly and/or intentionally falsely represented the 23 dangerous and serious health and safety concerns inherent in the use of ParaGard IUD to Plaintiff,
24 her physicians and the public at large, for the purpose of influencing the sales of products known
25 to be dangerous and defective, and/or not as safe as other alternatives.

1           146. At the time the representations were made, Plaintiff and her healthcare providers
2 did not know the truth about the dangers and serious health and/or safety risks inherent in the use
3 of ParaGard IUD.

4           147. Plaintiff did not discover the true facts about the dangers and serious health and/or 5 safety risks, nor did Plaintiff discover the false representations of the Teva Defendants, nor would
6 Plaintiff with reasonable diligence have discovered the true facts about the Teva Defendants’
7 misrepresentations at the time when the ParaGard IUD was surgically implanted into her.

8           148. Had Plaintiff known the true facts about the dangers and serious health and/or safety
9 risks of ParaGard IUD, neither Plaintiff nor her physician would not have purchased, used, or 10 relied on the Teva Defendants’ representations and omissions concerning ParaGard IUD.

11           149. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants’ design, manufacture, marketing, sale
12 and/or distribution of ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff has been seriously injured, and sustained severe and 13 permanent injury, pain, suffering, disability, and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of 14 reproductive health, comfort, and economic damages.

15           150. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
16 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
17 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
18 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

19           WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
20 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
21 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
22 issues as triable as a matter of right.

23                                   COUNT VI – NEGLIGENT MISREPRESENTATION

24           151. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
25 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

26           152. At relevant times, the Teva Defendants negligently provided Plaintiff, her 27 healthcare providers, and the general medical community with false or incorrect information or 28

1 omitted or failed to disclose material information concerning ParaGard IUD, including, but not
2 limited to, misrepresentations regarding the safety of ParaGard IUD.

3 153. The information distributed by the Teva Defendants to the public, the medical 4 community, the Plaintiff and her healthcare providers, including advertising campaigns, labeling
5 materials, print advertisements, commercial media, was false and misleading and contained
6 omissions and concealment of truth about the dangers of ParaGard IUD.

7 154. The Teva Defendants' intent and purpose in making these misrepresentations was 8 to deceive and defraud the public and the medical community, including Plaintiff and Plaintiffs'
9 health care providers; to falsely assure them of the quality of ParaGard IUD and the induce the 10 public and medical community, including Plaintiff and her healthcare provider to request,
11 recommend, prescribe, implant, purchase and continue to use ParaGard IUD.

12 155. The Teva Defendants had a duty to accurately and truthfully represent to the 13 medical and healthcare community, medical drug manufacturers, Plaintiff, her healthcare
14 providers and the public, that ParaGard IUD had been tested and found to be safe and effective for 15 long term birth control.

16 156. The representations made by the Teva Defendants were, in fact, false. ParaGard
17 IUD was not safe for human use in its intended and reasonably foreseeable manner. Use of 18 ParaGard IUD is dangerous as there is a risk that it may fracture upon removal causing significant 19 injury.

20 157. In reliance upon the false and negligent misrepresentations and omissions made by 21 the Teva Defendants, Plaintiff and Plaintiff's healthcare providers were induced to, and did use
22 ParaGard IUD, thereby causing Plaintiff to endure severe and permanent injuries.

23 158. The Teva Defendants knew and had reason to know that the Plaintiff, Plaintiff's 24 healthcare providers, and the general medical community did not have the ability to determine the 25 true facts which were intentionally and/or negligently concealed and misrepresented by the Teva
26 Defendants.

1           159. Plaintiff and her healthcare providers would not have recommended, and implanted
2 ParaGard IUD had the true facts not been concealed by the Teva Defendants.

3           160. The Teva Defendants had sole access to the material facts concerning the defective
4 nature of ParaGard IUD and its propensity to cause serious and dangerous side injuries.

5           161. At the time the Teva Defendants failed to disclose and misrepresented the foregoing
6 facts, and at the time Plaintiff was implanted with ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff and her healthcare
7 providers were unaware of the Teva Defendants' negligent misrepresentations and omissions.

8           162. The Teva Defendants failed to exercise ordinary care in making representations
9 concerning ParaGard IUD while they were involved in their manufacture, sale, testing, quality
10 assurance, quality control, and distribution in interstate commerce, because they negligently
11 misrepresented ParaGard IUD's high risk of unreasonable and dangerous adverse side effects.

12           163. The Teva Defendants breached their duty to Plaintiff, her physicians, and the 13 medical and healthcare community, by representing that ParaGard IUD has no serious side effects 14 different from older generations of similar products or procedures.

15           164. Plaintiff and Plaintiff's healthcare providers reasonably relied upon the 16 misrepresentations and omissions made by the Teva Defendants, where they concealed and 17 misrepresented facts that were critical to understanding the true dangers inherent in the use of 18 ParaGard IUD.

19           165. Plaintiff and Plaintiff's healthcare providers' reliance on the foregoing
20 misrepresentations and omissions was the direct and proximate cause of Plaintiff's injuries.

21           166. The Teva Defendants knew, and had reason to know, that ParaGard IUD had been 22 insufficiently tested, or had not been tested at all, that the products lacked adequate and accurate
23 warnings, that they created a high risk, and/or higher than acceptable risk, and/or higher than 24 reported risk that they represented a risk of adverse side effects, including, pain and suffering, 25 surgery to remove the product, and other severe and personal injuries, which are permanent and 26 lasting in nature.

1           173. ParaGard IUD was expected to reach and did in fact reach its ultimate consumer,
2 including Plaintiff and her implanting physicians, without substantial change in the condition in 3 which it was manufactured and sold by the Teva Defendants.

4           174. The Teva Defendants breached various express warranties with respect to ParaGard
5 IUD including the following particulars:

- 6           a. The Teva Defendants represented to Plaintiff and her physicians and healthcare
7 providers through their labeling, advertising, marketing materials, detail
8 persons, seminar presentations, publications, notice letters, and regulatory 9 submissions that ParaGard IUD was safe, and fraudulently withheld and 10 concealed information about the substantial risks of serious injury associated 11 with using ParaGard IUD;
- 12           b. The Teva Defendants represented to Plaintiff and her physicians and healthcare
13 providers that ParaGard IUD was as safe, and/or safer than other alternative 14 procedures and drugs and fraudulently concealed information, which 15 demonstrated that ParaGard IUD was not safer than alternatives available on 16 the market; and
- 17           c. The Teva Defendants represented to Plaintiff and her physicians and healthcare 18 providers that ParaGard IUD was more efficacious than other alternatives and 19 fraudulently concealed information regarding the true efficacy of the products.

20           175. In reliance upon the Teva Defendants' express warranties, Plaintiff was implanted
21 with ParaGard IUD as prescribed and directed, and therefore, in the foreseeable manner normally 22 intended, recommended, promoted, and marketed by the Teva Defendants.

23           176. At the time of making such express warranties, the Teva Defendants knew or should 24 have known that ParaGard IUD does not conform to these express representations because 25 ParaGard IUD was not safe and had numerous side effects, many of which the Teva Defendants
26 did not accurately warn about, thus making ParaGard IUD unreasonably unsafe for its intended 27 purpose.

1 177. Members of the medical community, including physicians and other healthcare
2 professionals, as well as Plaintiff and her physicians, relied upon the representations and warranties
3 of the Teva Defendants in connection with use, recommendation, description, and/or dispensing
4 of ParaGard IUD.

5 178. The Teva Defendants breached their express warranties to Plaintiff in that ParaGard
6 IUD was not of merchantable quality, safe and/or fit for its intended uses, nor was it adequately 7 tested.

8 179. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants' design, manufacture, marketing, sale
9 and/or distribution of ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff has been injured catastrophically, and sustained
10 severe and permanent pain, suffering, disability, and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of
11 reproductive health, comfort, and economic damages.

12 180. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
13 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
14 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
15 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

16 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
17 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
18 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
19 issues as triable as a matter of right.

20 COUNT VIII – BREACH OF IMPLIED WARRANTY

21 181. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
22 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

23 182. At relevant and material times, the Teva Defendants manufactured, distributed,
24 advertised, promoted, and sold ParaGard IUD.

25 183. At relevant times, the Teva Defendants intended that ParaGard IUD be implanted
26 for the purposes, and in the manner, that Plaintiff or her physicians or surgeons used it and the 27
28

1 Teva Defendants impliedly warranted each ParaGard IUD to be of merchantable quality, safe and 2 fit for such use, and to have been adequately tested.

3 184. The Teva Defendants were aware that consumers, including Plaintiff or her
4 physicians or surgeons would implant ParaGard IUD in the manner described by the instructions
5 for use and that Plaintiff was the foreseeable user of ParaGard IUD.

6 185. Plaintiff and/or her physicians and surgeons were at all relevant times in privity
7 with the Teva Defendants.

8 186. The Teva Defendants' ParaGard IUD was expected to reach and did in fact reach 9 consumers, including Plaintiff and/or her physicians and surgeons, without substantial change in 10 the condition in which they manufactured and sold by the Teva Defendants.

11 187. The Teva Defendants breached various implied warranties with respect to ParaGard
12 IUD, including the following particulars:

- 13 a. The Teva Defendants represented through their labeling, advertising, marketing 14 materials, detail persons, seminar presentations, publications, notice letters, 15 medical literature, and regulatory submissions that ParaGard IUD was safe and 16 fraudulently withheld and concealed information about the substantial risks of 17 serious injury associated with using ParaGard IUD;
- 18 b. The Teva Defendants represented that ParaGard IUD was safe, and/or safer than 19 other alternative drugs or procedures and fraudulently concealed information, 20 which demonstrated that ParaGard IUD was not as safe or safer than 21 alternatives available on the market; and
- 22 c. The Teva Defendants represented that ParaGard IUD was more efficacious than 23 other alternative treatments and fraudulently concealed information, regarding 24 the true efficacy of ParaGard IUD.

25 188. In reliance upon the Teva Defendants' implied warranties, Plaintiff and/or her
26 implanting physicians and surgeons used ParaGard IUD as prescribed in the foreseeable manner
27 normally intended, recommended, promoted, and marketed by the Teva Defendants.

1 189. The Teva Defendants breached their implied warranties to Plaintiff and/or her
2 implanting physicians and surgeons in that ParaGard IUD was not of merchantable quality, safe
3 and fit for its intended use, or adequately tested, in violation of common law principles.

4 190. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants' design, manufacture, marketing, sale
5 and/or distribution of ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff has been injured catastrophically, and sustained
6 severe and permanent pain, suffering, disability, and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of
7 reproductive health, comfort, and economic damages.

8 191. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
9 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
10 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
11 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

12 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
13 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
14 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
15 issues as triable as a matter of right.

16 COUNT IX – VIOLATION OF CONSUMER PROTECTION LAWS

17 192. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
18 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

19 193. Plaintiff purchased and used ParaGard IUD primarily for personal use thereby 20 suffering ascertainable losses, as a result of the Teva Defendants' actions in violation of the 21 consumer protection laws.

22 194. Had the Teva Defendants not engaged in the deceptive conduct described herein, 23 Plaintiff and her physicians would not have purchased and/or paid for ParaGard IUD and would 24 not have incurred related medical costs and injury.

25 195. The Teva Defendants engaged in wrongful conduct while at the same time
26 obtaining, under false pretenses, moneys from Plaintiff for ParaGard IUD, that was implanted into 27
28

1 her, and that would not have been paid for had the Teva Defendants not engaged in unfair and 2 deceptive conduct.

3 196. Unfair methods of competition of deceptive acts or practices that were proscribed
4 by law, including the following:

- 5 a. Representing that goods or services have characteristics, ingredients, uses 6 benefits or quantities that they do not have;
- 7 b. Advertising goods or services with the intent not to sell them as advertised; and
- 8 c. Engaging in fraudulent or deceptive conduct that creates a likelihood of 9 confusion and/or misunderstanding.

10 197. Plaintiff was injured by the cumulative and indivisible nature of the Teva
11 Defendants' conduct. The cumulative effect of the Teva Defendants' conduct directed at patients, 12 physicians and consumers, including the Plaintiff and her physicians, was to create demand for 13 and promote the sale of ParaGard IUD. Each aspect of the Teva Defendants' conduct combined to 14 artificially create sales of ParaGard IUD.

15 198. The Teva Defendants have a statutory duty to refrain from unfair or deceptive acts 16 or trade practices in the design, labeling, development, manufacture, promotion, and sale of 17 ParaGard IUD.

18 199. Had the Teva Defendants not engaged in the deceptive conduct described above,
19 Plaintiff would not have purchased and/or paid for ParaGard IUD, and would not have incurred 20 related medical costs.

21 200. The Teva Defendants' deceptive, unconscionable, or fraudulent representations and 22 material omissions to patients, physicians and consumers, including Plaintiff and her physicians,
23 constituted unfair and deceptive acts and trade practices in violation of the state and Federal 24 consumer protection statutes.

25 201. The Teva Defendants' actions, as complained of herein, constitute unfair
26 competition or unfair, unconscionable, deceptive or fraudulent acts, or trade practices in violation
27
28

1 of state and Federal consumer protection statutes, including but not limited to N.Y. Exec. Law §
2 63(12) and N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law §§ 349 and 350.

3 202. The Teva Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive
4 acts or trade practices or have made false representations in violation under the statute(s)
5 enumerated herein to protect consumers against unfair, deceptive, fraudulent and unconscionable
6 trade and business practices and false advertising, the Teva Defendants are the suppliers,
7 manufacturers, advertisers, and sellers, who are subject to liability under such legislation for 8 unfair, deceptive, fraudulent and unconscionable consumer sales practices.

9 203. The Teva Defendants and the Cooper Defendants further engaged in fraudulent
10 behavior regarding the transfer and/or sale of assets to the Cooper Defendants in 2017. The Cooper
11 Defendants knew or should have reasonably known that the transfer of assets was done in a manner
12 consistent with and in an effort to, deceive potential creditors.

13 204. Pursuant to the terms of the asset purchase agreement, Teva Women's Health, Inc.,
14 claims to maintain liability for all ParaGard IUD placed prior to the execution of the asset purchase
15 agreement in September of 2017. However, Teva Women's Health, Inc., converted to Teva
16 Women's Health, LLC and sold off all of its assets.

17 205. The Cooper Defendants knew or reasonably should have known that the Teva
18 Defendants converted Teva Women's Health, Inc., into Teva Women's Health, LLC after selling
19 off or moving all assets from Teva Women's Health, Inc.

20 206. Therefore, the Cooper Defendants knew or reasonably should have known that the 21 Teva Defendants' shuffling of assets and subsequent conversions were done to thwart potential
22 creditors in violation of N.Y. Exec. Law § 63(12), N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law §§ 349 and 350, and 23 Federal consumer protection laws.

24 207. The Defendants violated these statutes that were enacted to protect consumers
25 against unfair, deceptive, fraudulent and unconscionable trade and business practices and false
26 advertising, by knowingly and falsely representing that ParaGard IUD was fit to be used for the 27 purpose for which it was intended, when in fact it was defective and dangerous, and by other acts
28

1 alleged herein. These representations were made in uniform promotional materials and product
2 labeling.

3 208. The actions and omissions of the Defendants alleged herein are uncured or 4 incurable deceptive acts under the statutes enacted in the states to protect consumers against unfair,
5 deceptive, fraudulent and unconscionable trade and business practices and false advertising.

6 209. The Defendants had actual knowledge of the defective and dangerous condition of 7 ParaGard IUD and failed to take any action to cure such defective and dangerous conditions.

8 210. Plaintiff and her implanting physicians and surgeons relied upon the Teva
9 Defendants' misrepresentations and omissions in determining which product and/or procedure to 10 undergo and/or perform.

11 211. The Teva Defendants' deceptive, unconscionable or fraudulent representations and 12 material omissions to patients, physicians and consumers, constitute unfair and deceptive acts and 13 practices.

14 212. By reason of the unlawful acts engaged by the Teva Defendants, and as a direct and 15 proximate result thereof, Plaintiff has suffered ascertainable losses and damages.

16 213. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants' design, manufacture, marketing, sale
17 and/or distribution of ParaGard IUD, Plaintiff has been injured catastrophically, and sustained
18 severe and permanent pain, suffering, disability, and impairment, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of
19 reproductive health, comfort, and economic damages.

20 214. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
21 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
22 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
23 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

24 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
25 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages, and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
26 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
27 issues as triable as a matter of right.
28

COUNT X – GROSS NEGLIGENCE

1
2 215. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference every allegation of this Complaint
3 as if each were set forth fully and completely herein.

4 216. The wrongs done by the Teva Defendants were aggravated by the kind of malice,
5 fraud, and grossly negligent disregard for the rights of others, the public, and Plaintiff , for which
6 the law would allow, and which Plaintiff will seek at the appropriate time under governing law
7 for the imposition of exemplary damages, in that the Teva Defendants' conduct was specifically
8 intended to cause substantial injury to Plaintiff; or when viewed objectively from the Teva
9 Defendants' standpoint at the time of the conduct, involved an extreme degree of risk, considering 10 the probability and magnitude of the potential harm to others, and the Teva Defendants were 11 actually, subjectively aware of the risk involved, but nevertheless proceeded with conscious 12 indifference to the rights, safety, or welfare of others; or included material representations that 13 were false, with the Teva Defendants, knowing that they were false or with reckless disregard as 14 to the truth and as a positive assertion, with the intent that the representation is acted on by Plaintiff.

15 217. Plaintiff and her physicians relied on the representations of the Teva Defendants
16 and suffered injury as a proximate result of this reliance.

17 218. Plaintiff therefore will seek to assert claims for exemplary damages at the 18 appropriate time under governing law in an amount within the jurisdictional limits of the Court.

19 219. Plaintiff also alleges that the acts and omissions of the Teva Defendants, whether 20 taken singularly or in combination with others, constitute gross negligence that proximately caused 21 that injuries to Plaintiff. In that regard, Plaintiff will seek exemplary damages in an amount that 22 would punish the Teva Defendants for their conduct and which would deter other manufacturers
23 from engaging in such misconduct in the future.

24 220. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
25 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
26 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
27 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.
28

1 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
2 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
3 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
4 issues as triable as a matter of right.

5 COUNT XI – PUNITIVE DAMAGES

6 221. Plaintiff incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in the 7 preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.

8 222. At times material hereto, the Teva Defendants knew or should have known that 9 their ParaGard IUD, as designed, manufactured, assembled, sold and/or distributed was 10 inherently dangerous.

11 223. At times material hereto, the Teva Defendants attempted to misrepresent and 12 did misrepresent facts concerning the safety of their ParaGard IUD.

13 224. The Teva Defendants' misrepresentations included knowingly withholding 14 material information from the public and consumers alike, including Plaintiff, concerning the 15 safety of ParaGard IUD.

16 225. At times material hereto, the Teva Defendants knew and recklessly disregarded
17 the fact that their ParaGard IUD could cause serious, disabling, and permanent injuries to 18 individuals such as Plaintiff.

19 226. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Teva Defendants continued to aggressively
20 market and promote their ParaGard IUD, without disclosing the risks.

21 227. As a proximate result of the Teva Defendants' willful, wanton, careless,
22 reckless, conscious, and deliberate disregard for the rights and safety of their consumers,
23 Plaintiff suffered severe and permanent physical and emotional injuries, endured pain and 24 suffering, and has suffered economic loss, including incurring significant expenses for 25 medical care and treatment, and will continue to incur such expenses in the future.

26 228. The Teva Defendants' aforesaid conduct was committed with knowing,
27 conscious, careless, reckless, willful, wanton, and deliberate disregard for the rights and safety
28

1 of consumers, including Plaintiff, thereby entitling Plaintiff to punitive damages in an amount
2 appropriate to punish the Teva Defendants and deter them from similar conduct in the future.

3 229. The Cooper Defendants are liable as successors-in-interest under the New York
4 Uniform Voidable Transactions Act, N.Y. Debt & Cred. L. §§ 270 – 281 (N.Y. UVTA), any other
5 state or federal successor in interest acts or statutes; and the Federal Consumer Protection Act
6 pursuant to a fraudulent conveyance or transfer of assets.

7 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants, jointly and severally,
8 for compensatory damages, for punitive damages and for costs, in an as yet unliquidated sum in
9 excess of $75,000.00, and such other relief as this Court deems just and for a trial by jury on all
10 issues as triable as a matter of right.

11 PRAYER FOR RELIEF

12 So far as the law and this Court allows, Plaintiff demands judgment against each 13 Defendant on each count as follows:

- 14 a. All available compensatory damages for the described losses with respect 15 to each cause of action;
- 16 b. Past and future medical expenses, as well as the cost associated with past 17 and future life care;
- 18 c. Past and future lost wages and loss of earning capacity;

28

1 k. Such other additional, further, and general relief as Plaintiff may be 2 entitled to in law or in equity as justice so requires.
